問Ⅲ

(記入例) I like blue , but I don't like orange .

I agree with the speaker. I think Japanese history and culture should be taught in English classes because of my experience of talking with ALTs and because I want to travel overseas in the future.

The speaker reminded me about the times I talked with the ALTs at my school. I often asked them about their home countries, and I really enjoyed hearing about them. That is what made me want to go and see those places for myself.

I realized that I was like the Japanese people who met the speaker, and so if I go overseas I will probably have the same experience. I want to meet lots of new friends when I travel. Therefore, I want to know how to tell them about Japan in English. Then maybe they will want to come and visit Japan and see it for themselves.

I think teaching Japanese history and culture in English classes will be good for Japanese people and for Japan.
