

Study abroad program comparison chart

Study abroad type	Undergraduate students	Graduate students (Master's Program)	Graduate students (Doctoral Program)	Exchange students	Japanese studies students	Teacher training students	Non-degree students	Research students
Standard years of study	4 years	2 years	3 years (4 years for medical majors)	5 months or 11 months	11 months	1 year and 6 months	1 year or less	1 year or less
Required education	High school graduate	Undergraduate degree	Master's degree	Enrolled in an overseas partner university	Majored in Japanese language and culture at an overseas partner university or an overseas university	Current teacher with more than 5 years of experience	High school graduate or have an undergraduate degree or master's degree	Undergraduate degree or master's degree
Affiliation	Faculties	Graduate schools	Graduate schools	Faculties	Faculty of Education and Human Studies	Graduate School of Education	Faculties and graduate schools	Faculties and graduate schools
Status	Regular students			Non-regular students
Start of study abroad	April or October	April or October	April or October	April or October	October	October	April or October	April or October
Eligibility for dormitory residence	Yes
Japanese language courses	Available (Not available only for Japanese language courses)
Languages the classes are taught in	Faculty of International Resource Sciences: Japanese for the first year, English for specialized subjects in the second year and above Graduate School of International Resource Sciences: English Other faculties and graduate schools: Japanese (partly in English)							