2. Admission period

April or October 2024

3. Period of enrollment

Students will be enrolled for a period of up to one year. If there are specific reasons for doing so, permission may be granted to extend the enrollment period.

4. Course of study

(1) Undergraduate Non-Degree Students may take up to 10 credits of specialized subjects in the first semester and in the second semester respectively in the Faculty of International Resource Sciences.

Graduate Non-Degree Students may take up to 5 credits from subjects in either course you apply for admission in the first semester and in the second semester respectively in the Graduate School of International Resource Sciences.

(2) Permission to enroll in a specific class may be withheld due to the course capacity, format, or other considerations.

(3) Specialized subjects from the undergraduate second year on are taught in English.

5. Approval of credit

Students who pass a course based on the examination designated by the class instructor or on the evaluation of a thesis report will receive the appropriate credit for that course.

6. How to apply

(1) Application documents

Submit the following documents to the International Resource Sciences Section, Academic Affairs Division. If the application will be sent by mail, write “Application for Non-Degree Student Enclosed” on the front of the envelope, and make sure that the package will be sent by registered mail and arrive by the deadline indicated in (2) below.

Documents to be submitted by all applicants

a) Admission Application for Non-Degree Students (use form provided)

- Applicants are to obtain the instructor’s approval for each subject before submitting this form.
- Applicants of Graduate Research Students are to circle a course that you apply for admission.
- In case of applicants residing overseas, the “Address to Which Screening Results Will Be Sent” should match the name and address of the person who will submit an Application for Certificate of Eligibility to the Immigration Bureau.
- The “Guarantor” must be a Japanese citizen who agrees to bear full responsibility for all actions (including financial obligations) of the applicant and who will be residing in Japan during the applicant’s period of enrollment. If the only guarantor available is a foreign national living in Japan, then it must be a person who has resided in Japan for a minimum of 10 years. In this case, submit a copy of the guarantor’s resident card (showing the person’s status of residence).

b) Certificate of graduation/completion (or document certifying expected) from last school attended

- Those who have not graduated or completion at time of application must submit their graduation or completion certificate after they enroll.

c) Self-addressed envelope for notification of screening results

- Write the name and address on an envelope (Japanese Kaku #2 envelope).
- Applicants residing overseas should address the envelope to the address indicated on the application form as “Address to Which Screening Results Will Be Sent”.

d) Application fee ¥9,800

- Using the designated “Money Transfer Form” provided by this university, transfer the fee at a financial institution. To obtain the form, contact the International Resource Sciences Section of Academic Affairs Division (E-mail: sg-shigen@jim-u.ac.jp). Do not make payments via ATM, online banking, etc., since it may be difficult to identify the applicant as the sender.
- Once the fee has been transferred, submit the “Money Transfer Receipt” along with the application materials.
- Be sure to write the applicant’s name in the designated section of the form.
- Application fees for foreign applicants not residing in Japan should be remitted by a proxy, such as the applicant’s guarantor who is living in Japan.
- The application fee must be remitted during the application period indicated in (2) below.

Documents to be submitted by foreign applicants in addition to a)–d)

e) Copy of residence card (both sides)

* For applicants residing abroad, after arriving in Japan, submit a copy of the Residence Card as soon as it is issued.

f) Copy of passport (page containing photo)

* For applicants residing abroad, submit a copy immediately after arriving in Japan.

Documents to be submitted by applicants currently employed in government agencies, companies, etc., in addition to a)–d)

g) Letter of consent from the applicant’s superior at their workplace

* All documents submitted must be written in either Japanese or English.
